EARTHKEEPERS LEVEL II TRAINING

McKeever Center
Sandy Lake, PA

June 28 -30, 2010

Dear Apprentice and Level I Earthkeepers,

How are you doing with your Y and S tasks? I'm sure some of you by now are proudly wearing all four of your keys. Those of you who are still working on earning your last two keys, keep up the good work. Before you know it, your tasks will be completed and you will be an official Level I Earthkeeper.

Remember that being an Earthkeeper does not end once you have earned your yellow bead and certificate. Being an Earthkeeper is a lifelong process.

You can take that process a step further by becoming a Level II Earthkeeper. I have been busy getting ready for this summer's Level II Training. You'll have a chance to go back into my lab and see some of my newest natural treasures. Most of our time though will be spent outdoors exploring and discovering.

The Earthkeepers Training Center is a pretty awesome place in the summer. You'll want to visit your magic spot to see how it has changed over the last couple of seasons.

I hope that you decide to come back and earn your second bead and become a Level II Earthkeeper. I'll be waiting for you!

For the earth,

E.M.

If you thought Earthkeepers Level I was fun, you'll love what's planned for Level II Training. Here's a sneak preview of Earthkeepers Level II: Crawl inside the world's largest leaf to see what happens when you combine air, water and sunlight.

Travel to a City of the Future where things aren't what you think!

Learn the secrets of becoming a Nightwatcher by making the nighttime rounds.

Walk quietly out to the Woodland Theater where you'll sing and laugh during the evening campfire.

An Earthkeeper knows that -
